

Southern State Grad named Rookie of the Year at CMH

Racquel Browder, a 2023 graduate of Southern State's Associate Degree Nursing Program, has been named Nursing Rookie of the Year at Clinton Memorial Hospital (CMH) in Wilmington, Ohio.

Browder, born in Guam USA, came to the States at 20 years old. She decided to attend Southern State Community College because it was best suited for her and her family. "Southern State had the best location, schedule, and program for the career I had planned and it was affordable," Browder said. "When I decided to apply, Southern State had an abundance of welcoming and friendly people which made me even more excited to start school there," she added.

Over the past year, Browder has worked in multiple departments at CMH. Currently, she is serving as a registered nurse in the Intensive Care Unit and loves it.

"The CMH staff members are very caring, friendly, and passionate. The work-life are verye(w (z)-3 (ni (fo)-e)-367. 8 Tm (w)
